Massive project nears completion

It's quite a departure from the traditional homes; this rustic mountain architecture is capturing the eyes and hearts of many around the shores of Georgian Bay.

With its dramatic 26 ft. high great room, it is perfect for entertaining and exactly what the new homeowner is looking for. The house is also equipped with a 60 ft. x 30 ft. covered pool; in-doors, a fully teched out musical theater with an impressive 40 ft. clear span girder truss over head, as well as a 4 story elevator to make going from level to level as easy and fun as this house hopes to be.

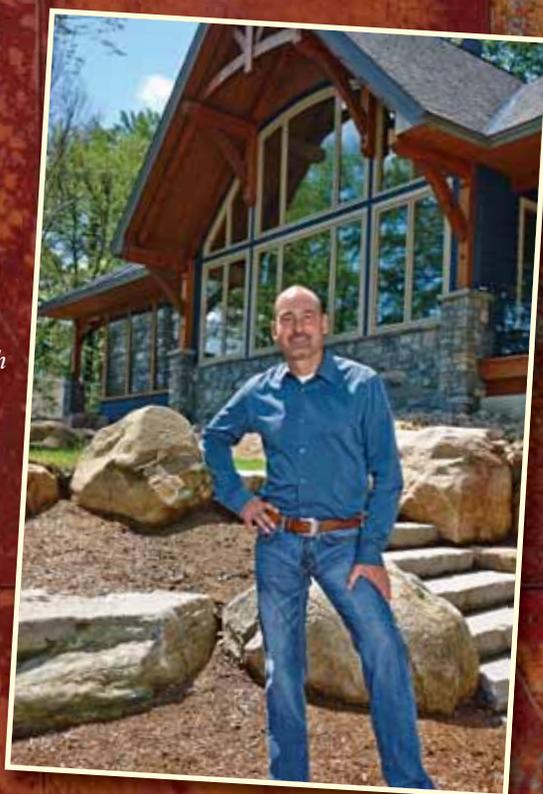

Another stellar year!

This was another year of solid growth across North America for us, representing steady progress in an economy; people are excited about finally building on that plot of land they have been holding onto for the last few years.

If 2012 was a year of new growth, 2013 was a year of keeping pace with that growth and 2014 is blowing our socks off.

It is exciting to be working with so many new clients, raring to build" says Bowes. To support this new demand CTF has been in 'hiring' mode since the start of the year.

We have brought in exceptional new talent: new sales reps, designers, shop floor staff all supporting the remarkable output that flows through our manufacturing facility each month.

Regained optimism and paced growth mark another impressive year of new custom timber frame homes for Canadian Timberframes.

We look forward to keeping you informed of the exciting new projects we are working on.

Ready to take in the vistas in The Great North Woods, Colebrook, NH

A heavy timber entrance and numerous exterior timber elements give this home a solid mountain feel and sets the stage for intricate stonework and other attractive design elements inside the home and out. You walk inside and are greeted with a 21 ft. vaulted great room, walking out to a 22 ft. x 14 ft. covered upper deck; which is part of the 70 ft. of decking they have wrapping along the exterior back of their home. Walk downstairs and breath easy taking in the 9 ft. ceilings, over 500 sq.ft. family room, 3 bedrooms and an impressive 8-person movie theater. Another exciting project we are proud to be a part of.

Homeowner puts his stamp on his timber frame

You can't get more passionate and involved in your new timber frame home than this homeowner who wanted to put his 'stamp' on his frame in our manufacturing plant. With his raising finished, and his general contractor is taking over, this Vancouver Island home will be move in ready next spring – just in time to enjoy the coastal waters and warm Pacific Ocean currents.

Lance Hogarth worked with our crew for the better part of a week when his timber frame was at the stage of final hand work and staining. Our crew welcomed and enjoyed Lances enthusiasm and commitment to his own frame.

CONSTRUCTION MOVING ALONG NICELY...

Timber frame living embraces the unique flavour of Bowling Green

Nestled in the rolling hills of Southern Kentucky this custom home boasts gracious wrap around decks, massive parallel chord trusses and attractive rooflines, a combination of magnificent architectural style and unrivaled surroundings, which creates a one-of-a-kind lifestyle for this new homeowner, can't wait to embrace.

The contemporary feel to the traditional rustic mountain charm was designed by Kelly and Stone Architects and sculpted perfectly to their site to capture stunning views in all directions with plans for beautiful landscaping to create an impressive picture of sophistication.
